

FIRE AND SOUND-PROOF PARTITION THE INVENTION OF J. D. SULLIVAN

The latest industry added to Salt is that of the manufacture of a fireproof partition, the invention of J. D. Sullivan of this city. This wall can be made from two inches to any thickness. It is sound as well as fireproof, is but half the weight of any other kind of partition, is four times as hard as any other, does away with studding, lathing and two coats of plastering, as also wood grounds, for you can nail bare boards, molding, chair rails and picture molding just the same as in wood. This partition can be cast in the mould, and in fifteen minutes taken out, built into wall and finished with a light coat of any kind of finish. There is no cracked plaster, it is sanitary, and the older the wall the stronger it becomes.

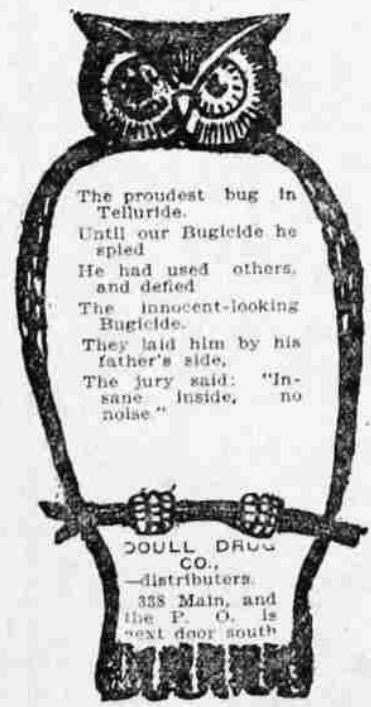

The building containing the lighting plant for The Tribune has the partition made from this new material; all the partitions in the Judd building, the new Railroad Exchange on Third South and Main streets will be made of the Sullivan patent wall. A dwelling being erected for T. H. Abrams will also have partitions made by Mr. Sullivan.

The new wall or partition is a splendid fireproof covering for columns, pilasters, beams, etc. The three-inch hollow block makes an exceedingly warm house in winter and a cool one in summer. It is likewise vermin-proof, and for cold storage rooms nothing can equal it. It is likewise readily put up without skilled labor.

A description of the partition is learned from the cut herewith: Figure 1 shows the side of the partition, scale "A." Figure 2A shows the reinforced section, with hollow spaces; figure 3 shows top view with air chamber; figure 4 the bottom of the scale; figure 5 shows how the blocks are tied; figure 6 the solid corner and return, and figure 7 shows the open space in each block, and how tied to tie below. It will be seen, therefore, that the wall when built, no matter what the size, becomes one solid slab. In a four-inch wall there is an air chamber which, while being a sound deadener, is also a conduit for electric wires.

Its uses are varied, and it appears to be the same of partitions. In the event that a door or window should be wanted in a partition after the walls are up, it can be sawed out as readily as if made of wood, and without damaging any portion of the wall, so that extra patching is not necessary.

Mr. Sullivan has shown his wall to a number of architects, all of whom pronounce it perfect and several, among whom is Architect Dart, have awarded him contracts. He is now figuring in several States. The office of Mr. Sullivan's company is 122 Atlas block.

IDAHO BUTTER FINDS MANY EAGER BUYERS

Market Row Has Abundance of Good Things for the Sunday Table.

A merchant on Market row stole a march on his competitors Saturday by shipping in Idaho and Nebraska creamery butter and retelling it at the local wholesale figure. Needless to say, the butter went like hot cakes. The profit on the individual pounds may have been small, but the man certainly was coining a mint of money during the afternoon. The Idaho butter retailed at 20 cents a pound. The wholesale price charged by other makers is also 20 cents. The dealer on Market row expects to ship in more butter as long as he can sell it at the reduced figure.

Business was brisk along Market row all day Saturday. The increased supply and variety of produce offered coupled with reductions in the price of tomatoes, pears and grapes did much to bring this about. The storm which occurred at noon did not deter the buyers, the roofs over the booths rather drawing crowds of people to get out of the rain. Utah tomatoes are now selling at 21 cents a pound. Other merchants held to the old price of 5 cents a pound, but there is little difference in the quality of the vegetable offered. Summer squash has changed in price from 10 cents each to 5 cents. Celery of the best quality, sold at two bunches for 15 cents.

Grapes hold the center of the market. Big Black ones and the white Muscats fill the booths. The fruit sells well. The price shows no change, but better measure and better grades are offered. Pears have changed from 12 cents a pound to 10 cents. This change has been due, unlike most others, to a change in quality.

ity, the fruit not being so large nor so fresh. Utah watermelons are asserting their presence. Melons that sold at 50 cents apiece are now reduced to 25 and 40 cent ones. Cantaloupes show but little change. The fresh Utah cantaloupes still sell at 10 cents apiece. Of the berries offered on the market, the dewberry is the only one which has any marked sale. In fact, it is the only one which is present in any quantity.
